Pat Riley receives Northwood University's highest Honorary Doctor of Laws, & shares Commencement Address with Life's Lessons.

Dear Friends,
I am so honored that Northwood University asked me to give their college graduation commencement address to their wonderful students, and awarded me an Honorary Doctorate. I wanted to share my speech with you...

PAT RILEY COMMENCEMENT SPEECH NORTHWOOD UNIVERSITY MAY 19, 2010

"Thank you for giving me this wonderful honor. I am grateful to God, Northwood University and especially, President Pretty, Provost Bellanca, Dr. Chuck and Glenda Laser, and the Board of Governors. I truly thank you all. Graduates, as this is one of the most important days of your life, I want first to congratulate you for what you have achieved. You have proven you are willing to pay the price and sacrifice to succeed. I guarantee you that you will always remember this wonderful day... for today we celebrate your accomplishments. We honor you and the great work you have done.

I have been in business for 34 years, and I have learned that there are certain things you must do to be successful. Since I am a nutritionist and a chemist, here is my formula for success.

First, strive for the highest principles in your life: honesty, integrity, ethics, respect, decency, compassion, and fairness in everything you do.

Do good wherever life takes you. King Louis XIV of France once told his captain of the guard, "I am the King", and the guard answered, "then be a good King."

Remember the Bible Verse: To those who much is given, much shall be required. Always help others less fortunate. Always, go beyond what is expected.

Strive for excellence in all that you do. Your life will affect many others, so be a force of good, and of change for the better.

Be responsible. Be dependable. Be trustworthy. Keep your word. Guard your reputation. Be the real deal. Let your moral compass take the high ground. Let the experiences of life mold and shape your character.

Be genuine. A fake diamond can never give off the brilliance of a real diamond. Let your goodness shine... one light can illuminate a whole room. Be that light, a light that inspires and uplifts others. Remember, one person can change the world, & it may be you.

Now is the time to plan for your future. Where do you want to be in 5 years? Dr. Bellanca told me that growing up each year, on her birthday, her father urged her to review her life plan. What a great idea for us all to follow. It's never too early or too late to make a plan. My brother made his at age 5, and grew up to be a jet fighter pilot and "Top Gun." I met a gal recently who just became a calendar model at age 104... and she looks terrific. And how about Astronaut Buzz Aldrin, the second man to walk on the moon 50 years ago, now at age 80, he just appeared on Dancing with the Stars... and his new plan is to see the first mission to Mars. Make plans and aim high.

To see your plans become reality, you must prioritize. Don't get distracted. You will see many opportunities, but practice laser beam focus. Put first things first. Think of what's most important to you, in your life, right now. The choices you make will determine the life you will lead.

Nothing will be constant in your life except change, so don't be complacent with things as they are, as they will change. Pick a direction, but remember: the tree that bends with the wind doesn't break, so be flexible in your plans, so you can seize the brass ring when it comes around and not miss golden opportunities.

Push forward. Be a producer, not a procrastinator. Imagine this string is the length of your life. If you are age 25, take away 1/4 of the string and half more for eating and sleeping, leaving this small amount of time to do all the things you want to do. So take action now. Enjoy your life, but don't waste time. Push forward toward your life goals now, not later. Ideas come easy. Implementing them is hard and can take a lifetime.

So the next lesson is: To be a success at what you do, you must always follow through. *Perseverance is vital to success. Thomas Edison made thousands of experiments before inventing the first effective light bulb. Persevere. Never give up! When trouble comes your way, remember: It is what it is. Find a solution.

Have a Positive Attitude. About 50% of your success comes from hard work, smarts, creativity, diligence. The other 50% is attitude. Clinical studies have proven that optimists are healthier and live longer. Happiness is a state of mind. Choose to be happy. Be

Citation

Northwood University is pleased to vest its highest honor on the occasion of its graduation ceremony, May 19, 2010 to Patricia A. Riley

Because: Growing up in south Florida, you realized very early in life that your love for the science of nutrition and chemistry would lead to your belief that good health is our greatest gift, and you vowed to dedicate yourself to help all people stay youthful and healthy as long as possible; and Because: As a Phi Kappa Phi Honor Graduate of the University of Florida, your studies in the field of Food Science and Nutrition led to your collaboration with a noted dermatologist whose work encouraged you to develop the first vitamin program to include antioxidants as a means of protecting our bodies; and Because: As the CEO of Clientele, you have been a pioneer in many of the current standards in the cosmetics industry, and were honored for your "outstanding contributions" to the fields of health, anti-aging and longevity, with the 1999 Jacqueline Kennedy Award from JFK University; and Because: You were honored as a 2009 Outstanding Business Leader of Northwood University for your work of over 30 years with leading physicians and scientists around the world in your quest to find the ephemeral "Fountain of Youth;" Therefore: On behalf of the Board of Trustees of Northwood University, you are vested with the degree Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa.

enthusiastic. Wear a sincere smile. Be confident, nurture that positive attitude. Read books from positive thinkers, like Norman Vincent Peale and your distinguished Dr. Rich DeVos, one of the most successful businessmen in the world. Learn from Joel Osteen, who created the biggest church in the U.S. because of his positive message. Life threw many challenges at Joel and his Mother, but they walked in faith and have accomplished incredible success.

You can do the same. Praise God. Praise people. Have an attitude of gratitude.

Another lesson is to take care of your most important asset, your health. No amount of money or things can make up for lost health. So live a healthy lifestyle. You must take risks in business, but be cautious with your life. Take a lesson from my 93 year old Dad, who still lectures me.

In WWII, Dad was a pilot flying troops and supplies from India to China. Over 628 planes were lost

over the dangerous Himalayan mountain range called the Hump. My father flew this mission 84 round trips and received the U.S. Army Air Corp Distinguished Flying Cross and the Chinese Medal of Honor. Dad taught me to be brave, be bold, but be cautious, a philosophy that saved his life many times, and may save yours. Once on a mission in the Pacific, Dad's commanding officer tried to pressure him to take an unsafe plane. Dad said, "Fix the wing before I fly it." The Officer was furious and convinced another pilot to fly the plane. Near Guam they lost his radio signal as he crashed into the Pacific. The lesson: don't be pressured to do anything that you don't think is right. Each day you will have to make split second judgment calls that require common sense! Be cautious and exercise what my father calls cockpit discipline when you drive. Pay attention. Don't text or use the cell phone in traffic and share this message with your friends.

Friends can enrich your life and expand your horizons so you go places and do things you could never do. Choose your friends wisely and cultivate them like a garden. Your network of friends can be a treasure chest of opportunities in life, and in business. Benjamin Franklin knew this. During the American Revolution, Franklin went to France as the Ambassador, cultivating his friendship with the King so when George Washington and the young American colonies were in a battle for survival, the King sent the French Navy and their resources that helped us win the Revolutionary War.

It took money, and that's why the next lesson is to invest money wisely for your future. Learn how to make money work for you. Build value in your business, savings, and acquire real estate holdings as soon as you can, so your equity will grow over the years.

As Graduates, you are now ready to step into the world and take on new challenges to build a business, advance in a career, and create a successful life for yourself and your family. The freedom to do this is a gift, paid for by the blood, sweat and tears of previous generations.

Stand up to anything or anyone who threatens your family, or the freedoms offered by this great nation. Let your voice be heard and vote your conscience.

The vision of President Abraham Lincoln in his Gettysburg Address still applies right now. It is for each of us to dedicate ourselves to the noble work that will advance freedom and prosperity for all.

Now lies a great adventure before you... to build the life you want, and to maintain this great nation under God, so it may prosper for your generation and for the future generations to come.

I wish you much luck and happiness."

Beauty in Paris

French and Clientele Style

By Pat Riley & Pam Price

French beauties have made headlines throughout history. When Pat Riley visited Paris in April, she spent the day at the Palace of Versailles walking in the steps of Marie Antoinette, admiring the magnificent gardens and fountains. The infamously self absorbed French Queen indulged her quest for beauty, from perfumes to luxurious lotions. She adored the luxury and entitlements of royalty, often to excess. Certain secrets she treasured can be found in a book, A Scented Palace authored by Elisabeth de Feydeau.

The beauty conscious Queen used an astringent made from moisture drops exuded by grapevines in May. This, according to historical accounts purified and whitened Marie Antoinette's complexion which was much admired at that time. Clientele has used grapeseed extract in many of its skin beautifying creams for 30 years.

Marie Antoinette was quite young when she became Queen.

"She had a sparkling complexion" according to historical observations, but then she had a retinue of beauty experts to care for her from head to toe, including Jean-Louis Fargeon her personal perfumer. She loved pomades scented with rose, vanilla, frangipani, tuberose, carnation and jasmine. It is said that during the French Revolution as she planned her escape, she insisted many of her luxurious beauty essentials be taken with her. There were so many carriages, the Guards tracked her easily, which led to her imprisonment.

From Marie Antoinette to the beauties of today, the search to look youthful for a lifetime continues to influence and enchant the world. The enduring mission of skincare experts through the ages reflects the changing face of beauty.

Today, faced with age-related "environmental insults", skincare demands a sophisticated palate; the mission of improving tone, reducing free-radical damage, establishing firmness, elasticity and wrinkle reduction is a global pursuit. Now, Clientele helps create the ageless appearance using botanicals and precious extracts to combat the aging process. Clientele patented formulas help you "look after you" with the same care as Marie's minions cared for their Queen centuries ago.

History repeats itself even when it comes to matters of beauty. Clientele develops each skincare formula with the goal of rejuvenating the skin's youthful appearance with age defying Sacred Lotus Seed (beauty secret of Egypt's Cleopatra), and other botanical extracts, not unlike the quest for blending skincare products that would have impressed Marie Antoinette. But fast forward to the 21st century. Pat Riley and her scientists explore new technological advances that can turn back the hands of time on your skin and give you the glowing skin you deserve.

You will always be ready for your "close up" if you keep Clientele close at hand. Whether you spend April in Paris, May in Minneapolis or June on the Jersey Shore, your skin can look radiant and luminous. Clientele formulas are fit for any climate or geographical challenge around the world. Clientele skincare has been recommended by Forbes Traveler as an excellent skincare line!

" The French Fountain of Youth ! "

For years, scientists wondered how French could eat a high fat diet and have a reduced risk of heart attack. Scientists dubbed this French Paradox and agreed that something in the red wine was protective. Recently Harvard scientists identified Resveratrol, a substance in the skin of grapes that activates the Sirtuin longevity gene that may reduce signs of aging and extend life! Mice fed a high fat diet and given resveratrol have more endurance on a treadmill, enjoy a healthier cardiovascular system, and better blood sugar levels. In mice, oral resveratrol produced large reductions in bain plaque, keeping the brain healthier.

Wonder why you look younger all these years ?

Clientele was the first company to use Resveratrol in skin care... a key complex in Estrokin, the active ingredient in ALL Estro-Lift products. To benefit from oral Resveratrol from the inside out, call our sister company, MDR Fitness Corp at 1-800-637-8227.

Author: Pamela Price is the co-author of three editions of 100 Best Spas of the World (www.globepequot.com). She researched the beauty secrets of Marie Antoinette with Patricia Riley on the occasion of her birthday, which they celebrated in Paris. She has traveled with Clientele skincare products since she turned 50 and says, "Thanks to this decision, she is always ready for her close-up".
